Note: Astronomy 10 is designed for non–science majors; it has no prerequisite coursework. However, as it does fulfill the physical science requirement, students will be required to perform basic algebraic computations. Simple equations and scientific notation are a part of the course, although not extensively used. More important is learning the way that science works, and some scientific vocabulary. In return you get a full tour of the universe, and learn about the origins and evolution of its contents.

We will read several of the major works of Greek literature (epic and drama, history and philosophy) with an eye to how authors of a variety of genres sought to understand themselves and the world around them.	4	STREET, J M	07/07-08/15/14

Together we will trace the development of Roman culture as Rome itself transformed from a city-state in Central Italy, to the metropole of a Mediterranean Empire, and finally to a center of Early Medieval Christianity. The end goal will be a broad familiarity with the Roman world, coupled with in-depth analysis of essential texts.	4	TAYLOR, M J	05/27-07/03/14

Summer Fees: UC Undergraduate $1,624.00, UC Graduate $2,040.00, Visiting $1,780.00 Note: "Recent World History through Film" – This course examines the recent history of the world through the lens of popular, critically–acclaimed, and international films. Some of the filmmakers purport to be telling the truth about world history, while others base the films only loosely on historical facts or circumstances. Course objectives are to develop a deeper understanding of recent world history by engaging with and analyzing a range of films. Prior knowledge of world history is not required. Note: "Media and Global Protest Movements" – This course is concerned with the interplay between political activism and contemporary (mainstream/social) media in international perspective. It places focus on the chain of uprisings in the Arab world, Turkey, Europe, and the United States, and the use of social media as a tool for contention. The course utilizes both lectures and multimedia workshops. Students explore a variety of web–based tools and produce individual and group websites devoted to relevant topics. No prior web experience is required. Enrollment by permission: contact tamy.fakhoury@gmail.com and hkissa@berkeley.edu. Also: ISSA, H K Note: Also: ISSA, H K
